Each week, Ryan and his team will bring in former professional athletes and superfan influencers to mingle with fans.

Tom Gucciardo, a veteran in event management, has made Savvy Seats a household name among fans seeking the ultimate game-day experience. Learn more about Tom Gucciardo.

A Vendor Lineup That Brings the Party

Fans can expect a unique pre-game atmosphere, with Happy Dad Hard Seltzer serving as the official beverage partner. Known for its refreshing flavors, Happy Dad combines craft brewing with an easy-drinking profile, making it a perfect choice for tailgates and aligning seamlessly with the fun vibe Savvy Seats aims to create.

FanDuel, the leading sports gaming and betting platform, will also be on hand to offer exclusive promotions and interactive experiences. Whether you're testing your luck or fine-tuning your fantasy league, FanDuel's setup will keep you entertained and informed.

Adding to the excitement, Ryan Verneuille will bring his team from The Ryan Show and FS Rochester's "What's Going On" to create live content. Regular contributors—including host Nate Brown Jr., podcaster Franco Vanderka, popular rapper Fuego Base, stand-up comedian Big T, socialite Hamptons Dave, and renowned behavioral scientist and wellness advocate Natanya Wachtel—will be on-site for live radio segments, too. Former Giants, Jets, and other sports influencers will join the fun, and the biggest superfans will have a chance to win tickets and other prizes through Savvy Seats.

Dr. Wachtel brings a playful spin to sports-themed mental health conversations, drawing inspiration from Lucy Van Pelt, the iconic Peanuts character known for her "The Doctor Is In" booth offering advice for 5 cents. Fans will have the chance to vent their frustrations over losing streaks, dive into rivalry gossip, or laugh off a bad bet in a light-hearted space designed to explore the emotional rollercoaster of sports fandom...and a nickel is not actually required.

All of this will be accompanied by a live DJ spinning the hottest tracks to keep the energy high and the pre-game party alive. Whether you're looking to dance off some stress or pump yourself up before kickoff, the DJ will keep the vibes flowing.

The Bigger Picture

While these events promise fun and camaraderie, Savvy Seats and its partners—including The Natanya Experience—are also dedicated to raising awareness about important issues such as mental health and emotional well-being in sports. By fostering these interactive spaces, the goal is to initiate meaningful conversations, providing fans with a safe environment to engage both playfully and seriously.

Join us at American Dream next to MetLife Stadium every Sunday this season for an unforgettable game-day experience!
